

blabalbalbla

An incident of type cell phone. Here is a general picture of the incident.

This document serves as a confidential notice regarding incident verification procedures. While our software is highly advanced and capable of detecting potential incidents with remarkable accuracy, it's imperative to emphasize that human verification remains essential. Despite our software's efficacy, the final determination of the veracity of any situation necessitates human judgment. Our technology significantly streamlines the process, yet for absolute certainty, human oversight is indispensable. This ensures that decisions are made with utmost accuracy and integrity, safeguarding against any potential errors or misunderstandings. Therefore, in all cases, human verification is indispensable to validate the authenticity of any detected incidents.

Here are the last 5 persons that appeared on the camera.

